A FAMILY TALK.

Sell Bure and Silver.

Bugs Think.

It is true that differing Democratic views have come to the point of the ways.

And if you will, the honest conscience of the people will be better answered.

Sometimes when two honest men have a fight, measured manly strength and courage is won, and the victor is not a weak, despotic ruler but a man of noble and just principles who for the honor of his office will not flinch in the face of opposition, or deflecting elements of the same party.

Between the ultra college and the ultra vulgar, as the terms go, perhaps the rule of reasoning may seem unquestioned, but when we weigh what one ultraist says the other favors, and still more special, if the ultraist has under the whip and the election excitement and the personal interest of some candidates. But will all this reasoning and logic be enough to make the ultraist and what it is also true that the ultraist is nothing to the average citizen when it falls to see his honest convictions as to principle, and yet it is true that in all political in all churches, in all societies, honest men deal with the ultraist, and the ultraist does not all but all their convictions and beliefs. And they do this with no violence

to the ultraist, and the ultraist

does this with no violence

A NEWSLETTER

Expected this Month by Treasury

Officials.

Treasury officials say that from present indications instead of the monthly deficiency experienced since the beginning of the calendar year there will probably be a small surplus at the close of business on October 15. They have been looking for this result for some time, and the result is a very gratifying one. The fact that the monthly number of days in the month of October is 31 days and the excess of the
